Yeager Airport Plans for the Future,
Hopes to Expand Runway

CHARLESTON, WV (WOWK) – Managing an airport, even a relatively small one, is no simple task. Handling passengers and security, keeping the runways clear – and especially planning for the future.

Every five years, the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) requires airports across the country to update their long-range plans, and provide a list of engineers and consultants who can help carry out those plans.

“While we are the experts at Yeager Airport, we need our on-call experts to tell us what else is going on throughout the aviation system in the country and in the world,” said Assistant Airport Director Dominique Ranieri.

“We can select quite a few different engineers and consultants through this process because we’ve identified multiple different potential areas that we will need people with expertise,” said Ranieri.

JACKSONVILLE AVIATION AUTHORITY EXECUTIVE HONORED

The top executive for the Jacksonville Aviation Authority (JAA) has been honored for his service to the airport industry.

Mark VanLoh, A.A.E., CEO of the JAA, was named a recipient of the Distinguished Service Award by the American Association of Airport Executives. The award marks contributions officials make to the airport industry.

VanLoh was presented the award by the JAA board of directors Monday.

Kelly Campbell, chair of the Association of Airport Executives, said VanLoh earned the honor for work that began before and including his service in Jacksonville.

“For more than three decades, Mark VanLoh has served as a model airport professional, a respected aviation industry voice, and an effective leader in the communities that have been fortunate enough to have his services,” Campbell said. “Mark is the rare breed who has proved adept at getting things done while always being agreeable and respectful. It is fitting that AAAE is honoring him for his dedication, his professionalism, and his significant career achievements.”

VanLoh was first certified as an airport executive in 1989 and has served in the executive branch at airports including Rockford, Illinois, Toledo and Cleveland, Ohio, Tulsa, Oklahoma, and other locales.

Lexington, KY – May 26, 2021 – Passengers at Blue Grass Airport will now have new dining and snack options when they are traveling to/from Lexington. The airport is pleased to announce the opening of the Bourbon Library Bar & Restaurant, a new full-service dining concept operated by the airport's food and beverage partner, Delaware North. Located in Concourse B, this restaurant is also now supplemented with the Snack Barrel, a grab-and-go option for passengers who have less time and are seeking to bring food on their flight.

Open for breakfast, lunch and dinner, the Bourbon Library offers an array of bourbon favorites as well as a selection of southern comfort foods. Passengers can choose amongst menu items such as fried green tomatoes, BBQ bourbon burgers, pulled pork sandwiches and healthy salads. Located next door is the newly constructed Snack Barrel, which offers grab-and-go items such as salads, sandwiches, snacks and beverages. The Snack Barrel has a self-checkout system that provides passengers with speed and convenience.

“As passengers begin flying again, we hope they will be pleasantly surprised by the addition of these new dining options,” said Eric Frankl, executive director at Blue Grass Airport. “Our partners at Delaware North have been working diligently during the pandemic to renovate our restaurant facilities and create dining experiences that showcase our region and elevate our service. We encourage travelers to allow time prior to their flight to enjoy these new offerings.”

In addition to the Bourbon Library Bar & Restaurant, Blue Grass Airport passengers also have the option of other dining venues including Dunkin' and Sir Veza's Kitchen & Kantina. Sir Veza's, which serves a variety of Mexican favorites, opened in 2020 and provides a casual eating option for passengers. All of these facilities are operated by Delaware North, a family-owned company operating in more than 30 airports and other hospitality venues around the world.

“We are proud to bring a true taste of Lexington and Kentucky to Blue Grass Airport with the Bourbon Library Bar & Restaurant,” said Joe Gartland, vice president of operations for Delaware North. “With more than 90 locally distilled bourbons to choose from, there are endless cocktail options to pair with the southern-inspired food menu. Travelers in a hurry will also find the market-style convenience of the Snack Barrel to be a welcome addition to the dining choices at the airport.”

St. Pete-Clearwater Adds Swoop

Swoop, Canada's leading ultra-low-cost carrier (ULCC), today unveiled plans to add three new U.S. destinations to its network with non-stop flights to St. Pete-Clearwater (PIE), San Diego (SAN), and Orlando Sanford (SFB) beginning this winter.

"Swoop is celebrating three years of bringing ultra-low fares to Canadians and we are thrilled to continue expanding on our success with the introduction of San Diego, Orlando Sanford and St. Pete-Clearwater to our network," said Bert van der Stege, Head of Commercial & Finance, Swoop. "We are pleased to be providing our travellers looking to explore the U.S. this winter with even more choice and affordable options."

The addition of the three new sun destinations to Swoop's network comes as the airline readies to celebrate its third anniversary of flying on June 20. Since introducing the ultra-low-cost air travel model in Canada, the airline has served 3 million travellers, establishing itself as the ultra-low-cost carrier of choice for Canadians. As provincial vaccinations and phased re-opening plans progress, Swoop continues to see an increase in demand as Canadians look to book that long awaited winter getaway south of the border.

Say hello to sunny St. Pete-Clearwater.

With non-stop flights and its proximity to Tampa Bay, Swoop's service to sunny St. Pete-Clearwater will begin on November 5 from Toronto and on November 9 from Hamilton.

"We are excited to welcome Canada based Swoop to our family of airlines", said St. Pete-Clearwater International (PIE) Airport Director, Tom Jewsbury. "Canadians will have a convenient, non-stop option to fly to our award-winning destination from Toronto and Hamilton, Canada, and many will want to visit as the borders reopen! Being one of only a few of Swoop's U.S. destinations, we are confident that sunny St. Pete-Clearwater area will be a popular one. We want to thank our partners at Visit St. Pete/Clearwater and Volaire Aviation for helping us make this possible."

"We are delighted to see Swoop add ultra-low-cost options to the Sunshine State from Hamilton for the upcoming winter travel season. Travelling between airports like Hamilton International, Orlando Sanford and St. Pete-Clearwater has become increasingly appealing to passengers looking for a comfortable travel experience that a smaller airport can offer," said Cathie Puckering, President & CEO, John C. Munro Hamilton International Airport. "Hamilton International remains committed alongside Swoop to serving the local community and ensuring people can return to the skies comfortably and get to where the need to go with confidence."
