Cutodial Staff Keeps Asheville Regional Airport Clean and Safe

During a global pandemic, the Asheville Regional Airport is not the same as what its patrons are used to.

You'll now find masks, and signs, and plexiglass, and cleaning — lots of cleaning.

“Airports are part of the national critical infrastructure so we do not have an option of closing,” said John Coon, director of operations and maintenance.

During the past few months, Coon and his staff had to learn how to adapt, and quickly.

“We have to remain open and with that there are many different protocols we had to change to make sure we are disinfecting and sanitizing the building to make everybody comfortable who travels and works here,” Coon said.

Gregory B. Kelly, A.A.E., Executive Director at the Savannah/Hilton Head International Airport, was awarded the American Association of Airport Executives' (AAAE) Distinguished Service Award today at a meeting of the Savannah Airport Commission. The award is presented to airport executives in honor of an exemplary career and contributions to the airport industry.
